Welcome to Xiem Studio Tools.

Working with clay as an artist and designer, I have often thought, “I wish there was a tool that does...” After opening Xiem Clay Center in 2003, I have watched thousands of students learn and progress with clay. We have stocked our store with tools that match the diversity of classes we offer. Xiem sells a wide range of tools from other vendors. Where the tools we need were not available, I designed and made my own to offer in the store. Xiem Studio Tools are based on my experience at Xiem Clay Center and I designed them using my background as an industrial designer and ceramic artist.

Xiem Studio Tools were initially introduced in our retail store serving the Los Angeles community. In March of 2010, we introduced some of the line at NCECA in Philadelphia – the response was very positive and we quickly depleted our inventory before our website and catalog were even available. We are pleased to introduce the line as now available for select distribution and direct sale.

At Xiem we are committed to offer the highest quality tools, competitively priced, and with the best service possible. Every Xiem Studio tool offers a simple solution and creative purpose – we are focused on good design and quality execution without compromise. Xiem Studio Tools are the new essentials for clay artists.

We hope that you will explore the range of Xiem Studio tools. We are committed to develop tools, which support the ceramic artist in realization of their best creative and technical work. We also bring to this the commitment to service, teaching, and support of the ceramic art community, which Xiem has been known since 2003. We hope that you agree that Xiem Studio Tools simply make sense.

Best regards,

Kevin Nguyen
